MHA Announces Release of RxPertise™ Database Conversion Utility

September 19, 2008 (Florham Park, NJ): Managed Health Care Associates, Inc. (MHA), the largest Alternate Site Group Purchasing Organization (GPO) in the country, today announced the immediate availability of a database conversion utility in RxPertise Consulting Software, Version 7.5. RxPertise is the largest commercially available Medication Regimen Review (MRR) software for consultant pharmacists in the Long Term Care industry. The software enables users to efficiently manage the utilization, outcomes, and reporting requirements for patients in skilled nursing, assisted living and extended care facilities.

The new database conversion capability provides a seamless transition to RxPertise from other consulting solutions and is designed to allow consultant pharmacists to pick up where they left off with all historical data secure.

Terri Fagan, RPh., CGP, Director of Consulting, Consonus Pharmacy Services, LLC commented, "I was really impressed with the database conversion from our previous software to RxPertise. We did not lose any of our comment history, outcomes data or the precious notes we have documented in our resident's profiles over the years. If I knew how quick, thorough and painless the database conversion was going to be I would have changed consulting software much sooner."

"We are very pleased with the overwhelmingly positive response we've received with the database conversion feature," said Gregory S. Thomas, Vice President of Information Technology for MHA. "Eliminating the frustration of starting over will only reassure the many consulting pharmacists interested in converting from other commercially available solutions. The new database conversion utility is another example of making their needs paramount in the continued development of the software."
